Industrial action – school to stay open

Dear parents and carers,

As you are aware, teaching staff members of the National Education Union (NEU) are taking part in a series of strikes.

Currently, industrial action is still scheduled to take place on the following:

- Wednesday, March 15th, 2023
- Thursday, March 16th, 2023

The strikes are happening because of a national dispute between the trade union and the Government over school funding and teachers' pay; there is no dispute between the trade union and The Societas Trust.

Due to the nature of industrial action, it is not possible to confirm ahead of the strike days, the exact number of teaching staff taking part or how many classes will be affected.

Having considered our risk assessments and several options for Wednesday, March 15th and Thursday, March 16th, 2023, we have decided to:

Keep the school open as usual. The reason for this decision is that anticipated staffing would allow all statutory obligations to be met.

If you have any questions about these arrangements, please email office@goldenhillprimary.org.uk

We are working closely with our staff union representatives to keep up to date with the situation. I will let you know as soon as possible if any of the above arrangements change. I will also let you know the anticipated arrangements for the other strike days at least one week ahead in each case.

Yours sincerely,

smartin

Mr. S Martin
